FREEMAN FOUND FOR THREE RUNS

[Special to The Times-Dispatch,] Yale Field, New Haven, Conn., June 18.—Cornell found Freeman, Yale's pony pitcher, easy in the fourth inall that were made in the game. As Rutherford, Williams, Thompson Howard and Matchner came up in succession in this inning they hit safely, and Badger dropped Goodwillie's fly, allowing the three runs to be scored. Outside of this Freeman's work was gilt-edged, Goodwillie held Yale safe at all stages, two of the three hits made off him being due to bad bounds taken by easy infield grounders. The rival shortstops furnished sensational plays in spectacular fielding.

Philbin started the game behind the bat for Yale, but retired after he had injured his ankle in the sixth inning. Logan caught a difficult foul off Williams's bat in the sixth inning, and Stevens raced for Howard's looked like a certain three-bagger. Rain fell during the middle of the game. Yale's playing appeared to be disheartened by the defeat by Princeton yesterday, and the team forgot to cheer for Cornell at the end of the game. ning, and pounded him for three runs

Will Have No Difficulty in Holding High Place in City Central League.

The Meat Packers' bowling team won all three games from the Plum-bers' team last night, which practical-by gives the pennant of the City Central League to the Packers' team, as it now leads the Plumbers' team by 300 pins majority. Only six more games are scheduled. It will be almost impossible for the Plumbers to gain back the lost pins in the next six games. The following are the scores in detail:

running catch that paved the way for a triple play in the fourth inning, featured to-day's victory of the Detroit Americans over the Bostons. With Gardner on first, and Stahl on second, Lewis drove the ball on a line toward the corner of the right field bleachers. Cobb, after a hard run, pulled down the ball with a frantic grab, and threw to Delehanty, who caught both Stahl and Gardner on the line. Detroit bunched hits in the fifth, when two singles, an error, Cobb's triple and Delehanty's home run resulted in five runs. The score:

LOUD FRENCH WAIL

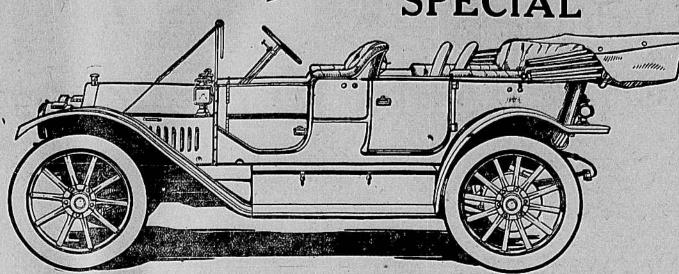

couldn't Keep Turf Clean Because Americans Lent Evil Influence.

New York, June 18 Edmond Veil Pleard, one of the best known figures on the French turf, has decided to give up his famous racing stud.

The reasons which Picard gives for his decision are of interest to American racing men. His first reason is that the French turf is becoming that doping of horses has been introduced and that the great racing colors which were formerly the glory of French race horses have been banished. He denounces the interference of the State in racing affairs, and says that the clubs are powerless to the first reason to them, and made a most excellent score, break-ing 48 in the regular, coming within one bird of the highest score made in one bird of the highst one bird of the highst he highst and because find the regular, coming within one bird of the highst and because find a most excellent score, break and the targets were very deception and the targets was not to them, and a made a most excellent score, break and the targets was event and the targets was not to them, and a made a most excellent score.
